Laws Whiskey House is a grain-to-glass distillery in Denver, Colorado that applies a “there are no shortcuts” philosophy to each batch of whiskey produced. Each batch is milled, cooked, fermented, distilled, and aged on-site, utilizing heirloom grains from family-owned Colorado farms. The practice of open air, on-grain fermentation captures the essence of Colorado’s terroir while the copper pot-column still produces a robust, grain-forward style of whiskey.

A very wet spring in 2015 produced a very plump and oily grain. This presented production challenges that we solved by distilling the rye a third time, producing a bright and fruity whiskey. Layering the sweet notes of Sauternes into the distinctive flavors from this crop year was a pairing we just couldn’t pass up.

- ◆ Tasting Notes: A nose of gardenia and lemon gelato flows into flavors of golden raisin, starfruit, and citrus meringue fading into sandalwood and spruce tips. The finish is bright and fruity with a luxurious mouthfeel that rests pleasantly on the palate.
- ◆ Mash Bill: 100% San Luis Valley Rye (50% raw, 50% malted)
- ◆ Aged over three years in new, 53 gal, charred oak barrels and finished for 7 months in a 225L French Oak Sauternes Cask.
